

Protecting Your Heart

by Penny Randell

After 23 years of intense and intimate exposure with Uganda and its people, including three visits this year alone, we are considered experts in Ugandan culture and can guarantee boots on the ground involvement concerning humanitarian organizations. Together, my son and I are able to bypass seemingly impenetrable walls to get to the truth of matters, which aids in transparency, and in turn builds your efforts and endeavors.

Through my written word and my son's videography, we can justify your involvement, and actually show your money at work. Because of desperate need, Africans are known for misrepresentation. Because we seek and diligently gather truth, we can provide a comprehensive assessment of your dollars at work. Together our team can aid in building relationships here and abroad that can expedite your efforts and insure your intended result.

During our decades of experience, we have discovered how easy it is to manipulate documents. Too, when scheduling formal visits to assess your efforts, special and pre-arranged programs are often put forth that can confuse the issue, hiding any inappropriate use of monies. Video is truth and when combined with words of accuracy the whole picture becomes vividly obvious and dependable.

Within our 23 years of living in and visiting Uganda, we have made multiple mistakes. In 1997 we suffered a significant theft that ended with a contract on my life. After reaching out to government sources for help, the threat was eventually squashed and we continued to live there successfully for three years. Ignorance comes with a price. Let our mistakes teach you how to protect your interests and money.

Because of our overwhelming involvement in the country, we are able to safely reach the people and expose their practices and intentions. Social media provides instantaneous results. The viewing of videos can open gates and provide pathways of involvement that would have never come to fruition. Our mission is to aid in establishing your programs and to enhance existing programs. Protecting your heart is what it's all about and the two of us can provide comforting assurance that your efforts and money are where they are supposed to be.

We honor all your endeavors through the foundations you have established. Dedication to assist in such is difficult to find, but you have found us. Transparency is vital and that is exactly what we can deliver. Let our initial miscalculations and blunders serve us all. We will make every effort to provide all that is needed to create and continue success in your organization, as well as helping it to grow in ways never expected.
